Notes (major elective choices, etc.)

- (a) Double majors are not required to take two additional history courses as electives.
- (b) Double majors may substitute a 400-level capstone course in their other major, but must take an additional 200 or 300 level history course if they make this substitution.
- (c) As many as two of the elective courses may be chosen from Social Science disciplines (Business Administration, Economics, Geography, Mass Communications, Political Science, and Public Policy and Community Service) and applied to the B.A. in History degree provided those courses are not counted towards another major and are approved by the advisor and the department chair.
